

MBCA – Northern New England Star Section

Dear MBCA member,

Our August event will be pretty comprehensive with regard to people's interests, from cars to the arts, with lunch (another art) in between.

Sunday, August 22 first, at 10 AM we'll visit the American Precision Museum to see the exhibit Yankee Ingenuity and the Road to Mass Production. This exhibit celebrates the 2008 centennial of the Model T Ford and explores how the tools and techniques of precision manufacturing made mass production possible.

Next, at about 11:30 we'll convoy to Claremont, NH for lunch/brunch at the new Common Man restaurant in the restored mill.

After lunch, it's north to Cornish, NH, to the St. Gaudens National Historical site, for the Arts portion of the day. In addition to seeing the grounds there's a concert beginning at 2PM with the North Country Chamber Players "Amy Beach in Words and Music" with N.H Poet Marie Harris.

What else do we need to know?

Admission to the Precision Museum is free on Sundays. It's located at 196 Main Street
PO Box 679
Windsor, VT 05089

At the St. Gaudens National Historical Site, an entrance fee of $5 is charged for visitors age 16 and over, but America the Beautiful Annual Passes including the Federal Senior Pass, Golden Age Pass and Access Pass, are honored for entrance to the site. Tickets for tours of the St. Gaudens home, "Aspet", are free, and are available on a first come - first served basis only. Aspet tours are limited to 12 people at a time. There's no additional fee for the concert.

Please let me know if you're coming so that the lunch reservation may include you. Got the Grandkids? Bring them along!

See you there?
